TAKING A HAND IN THE MESS.

Neurotics at the Wheel

Typical American neurosis is speed mania, psychiatrist says, and highways are full of neurotic drivers; classifies them in 10 groups, including hysterical, paranoiac, suicidal, etc.; women relieve repressions by back-seat driving or recklessness; urges education and penalties to take these menaces to safety off the roads.

W. Beran Wolfe, M. D., in Redbook Magazine; Reprinted by Permission.

EUROSIS, or "nerves," as it is popularly called, is the characteristic plague of modern civilization. A neurosis is a form of behavior that bridges the chasm between a deep-lying inferiority complex and the obstacles, challenges and responsibilities of adult life. Individuals have neuroses; families have neuroses; whole nations have typical neuroses. Speed is the religion of the American neurotic.

Our highway system is the most magnificent laboratory for the study of neuroses that exists in the world. Years of driving have enabled me to diagnose the neuroses of automobilists in front of me, behind me, beside me. They fall into definite clinical types, as easily recognizable on the road they are in the clinic.

Type 1: The aggressive neurotic. Actuated by a boring sense of his own inferiority, but he is not going to let anyone know about it if he can help it. He is compelled by his inferiority complex to "get there first." If he is not at the head of the procession, he is unhappy and jittery. He is a prolific accident-monger. You will find him driving at 60 when 30 would do just as well. Every road is his private kings'highway. He is always in a hurry, impatient of traffic jams, always overstepping the speed limit.

Type 2. The discouraged neurotic. He is not geared to the times. The world is too much for him. Seldom does he drive a car less than five years old. He drives carefully, yes, but so carefully that he is a real menace on the road. At every intersection he stops, looks, listens, hesitates, procrasti nates, doubts, worries, is helpless and undecided, and only moves on when a chorus of irate automobilists behind him honk their disapproval. He is the typical "timid soul" who has never been educated to meet his adult responsibilities.

Type 3: The parcissistic neurotic. The Greeks, who apparently had a word for nearly everything, coined this one after a young man who was so enamored of the reflection of his own face in a pool of water that he fell in and drowned. He is the typical "road hog." a stubborn, inconsiderate, unco-operative and sometimes vindictive automobilist.

Usually, he is an individual who has been very much spoiled. His "private logic" is so strong that he thinks nothing of blocking the entrance to a large office building, or obstructing access to a fire hydrant. cannot understand why he should not be allowed to make a left-hand turn from the right-hand side of the street.

Type 4: The hysterical neurotic. He is the devil-may-care driver who likes to take chances with his own life and with those of his passengers and fellow travelers. His brakes are never adjusted; he carries no insurance; he drives while intoxicated. "beats the lights," turns corners on two wheels. A driver of this type basically is afraid that he is mentally and psychologically inferior, and makes no effort to pre serve his own life by applying common sense to his driving. He shoots out of side streets and across traffic arteries, "trusting to luck" to get him through. His is an unstable personality completely incapable of the cerebral decisions necessary in our high-speed age.

Type 5: The female neurotic. Women are not basically worse chauffeurs than men. Sex plays no fundamental role in the determination of a driver's ability. Every man knows women who are the equal of any good male driver, as well as male drivers who could hardly be equaled for general neptitude even by bad women drivers.

There are three types of neurotic women drivers. The aggressive women drivers comprise the first type. They are afraid this is a man's world, and all women are discriminated against by men. open road and a powerful automobile under their hands give them an apparent opportunity to prove that they are as good as any man. These aggressive women take a fiendish delight in weaving in and out of traffic, frightening poor male automobilists by their recklessness and verve.

The second type comprises ladies so imbued with their own worthlessness that they become completely helpless in any traffic situation which requires independence of judgment or action; self-reliance or ingenuity. These are the women who tangle traffic by their ineptitude, their over-cautiousness, their indecision

The third type do not drive from the wheel, but from the back seat. This is the throne where many a woman revenges herself for the slights of the kitchen or the drawing-room. Women with a lust for domination drive from the back seat. in every neurosis, back-seat driving gives them a maximum of subjective power and a minimum of objective responsibility.

Type 6: The paranoiacs. These believe the world is plotting to make them un happy. They are actuated by a basic hate of their fellow men, and therefore their driving is always accompanied by suspicion and ill will toward fellow drivers. They drive, and curse as they drive. They are forever insisting on the right of way, and they are not averse to colliding purposely with cars whose owners displease them. They are unco-operative, stubborn, abusive usually criminally reckless drivers Paranoiacs are the most dangerous of all lunatic automobilists.

Type 7. Infantile neurotics. In a sense, every neurotic automobilist is an individual who has never grown up, psychologically, but there are certain purely infantile driv ers who fit in this category. There are the grandstand drivers who want to show off their speed or their ability to an audience in their own cars or to interested bystanders. An infantile rebellion against all forms of authority prevents these childish drivers from obeying signs or traffic lights.

Type 8: Introverted neurotics. Some peowho drive cars live entirely in a world within. They dream while they are driving, and their thoughts are far away from the problems of the traffic that surrounds them. Naturally, this is a kind of egotistic non-co-operation. An automobilist who is all wrapped up in himself often makes a very small package-in an accident!

Type 9: Suicidal neurotics, A great many accidents cannot be explained in any other way than by assuming that the drivers were unconsciously obsessed with a suicidal im-type is very closely associated with the last named type. A young man is jilted by his girl. He cannot "take it," and wants b punish the young woman for not the good taste to accept him. Instead of going into the garden for a diet of a fer worms, he "arranges" an accident quite unconsciously, for the purpose of showing the perfidious female what havoc she has wrought in his life.

Neurotic drivers cause an appalling amount of damage to life, limb and property. The only way this loss can be prevented is to institute a widespread ca paign of education, which would be ver expensive, but not nearly so expensive the loss due to the accidents caused neurotic drivers. All applicants for open tor's licenses could be given psycho examinations which could be designed weed out unstable and psychopathic P sonalities from the ranks of the drive The insurance companies could profitab wage educational campaigns for safer an saner driving.

Rewards and punishments could be inst tuted which would effectually remove the automotive neurotic from the road. Reductions in the price of gasoline to drive who had proved themselves safe and safe for three years or more would prove a pol itive incentive to careful driving.

Few people woullike to have "N.D.—(Neurotic Driver)—Tall Care!" painted on their cars in huge ye low or red letters. Repeating offen could have their licenses abrogated. The traffic courts could appoint psychiatr who would examine recidivists, and recom mend either temporary or permanent pension of driving privileges for neuro and unstable personalities. MILLS SAYS ROOSEVLT IS "EVADING ISSUE"

Asserts Nation Needs "Unequivocal Declaration of Ultimate Intentions."

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 .- Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury in the Hoover Cabinet, declared last night that President Roosevelt in his letter to Roy M. Howard, 'evades rather than meets the issue. "Are we to repair or rebuild the house?" Mills asked. "Are we to correct abuses or remake America? These are the questions which are troubling the American people.

They remain unanswered. "They will remain unanswered until Mr. Roosevelt, instead of talking in terms of a temporary breathing spell, makes an unequivocal declaration of his ultimate intentions, and until his policies conform to his promises.

"In his letter . . . there is no difference of opinion as to the broad objectives which he enumerates, and the attainment of which everyone desires. The issue which di vides Mr. Roosevelt and his critics is that the latter believe that all these objectives can be attained without doing violence to the social. conomic and political principles economy under a centralized bureaucracy for our American system one under which our people have lived and prospered for 150 years. 675 SEEK PART TIME JOBS "If there is to be an early and Traveler, Lecturer, Evangelist Thousands who heard Mr.

Branson's lectures in the Coliseum last Fall declared that his messages brought them hope and courage. Arrangements have now been made for him to deliver a new series of his unusual and inspiring lectures.

"The Dawn of a New Day!"

Only God can foretell the future. Hear what HE has revealed in the scriptures of our changing world and its destiny. Mr. Branson will tell you of the future world war-where the last battle will be fought, who the winner will be, the order of government that will be established, and how people will live under the new order.

THE PLACE

A beautiful Bible Auditorium has been provided for these lectures. (Formerly the Second church of Christ, Scientist) Admission will be free to all, but as it is anticipated that the seating capacity will be taxed, you are advised to come early to secure a good seat.

Still Roasting the Judges.

A NOTHER title fight which saw the judges render an extremely distasteful decision occurred recently in the bantam weight championship affair between Lew Salica and Sixto Escobar at New York. Salica was given the decision, two judges oncurring; but the crowd vocalized its lively displeasure. The disturbance has had so many echoes that President Edward C. Foster, of the National Boxing Association, stated that "it would be better if we dispensed with judges and returned to the old plan of allowing the referee to be the sole authority in naming the victor.

Judges operating outside of the ring are not as well qualified to give decisions as the man within the ropes. That was evident in the Escobar-Salica match. "Decisions of this sort hurt the boxing game more than any other thing we have to contend with. I believe these gentlemen are all honest and intend well, but since their verdicts vary so outrageously, sometimes, it seems best to go back to the old referee system which seems to me to be the best of all.

Certainly judges have added little to the accuracy of decisions. However, it is not necessary to dispense with judges. Let them remain at ringside as observers with whom the referee may con-The final verdict as well as the

Col. Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, adopted name "the Black Eagle of Harlem," surrendered his command of the Ethiopian air force because five of Emperor Selassie's fleet of 12 "war planes" cannot be taken off the ground, and the other seven are capable only of extremely short flights.
The American intimated that

"corruption and bribery by Italian agents have brought the Ethiopian air force to its low ebb." Adding "It is an event for any Ethiopian plane to take the air," the Harlem Colonel declines fur-ther responsibility for Ethiopian victory over Italy.

Labor unions in a group "of 12 countries" condemn the aggressive attitude of Fascist Italy towards Ethiopia. Representatives of organ-ized labor should visit Ethiopia and find out what happens to unorganized labor down there. It would surprise managers of British labor unions, for instance, to find out how much labor in Ethiopia does NOT get. The American Federation of

The only stamps to show a substantial decrease in value are the potsmasters' provisionals. The Baltimore Provisionals decreased as follows: No. 3, $400; No. 4, $4000 and No. 5, $200. The Alexandria and the 5-cent Providence also decreased a great deal.

All types of the 12-cent blacks jumped in catalogue price. No. 36 unused went to $75; No. 51 used to $5.50; No. 69 to $2.75; No. 90 used to $9 and No. 97 used to $2.75. No. 49, 10-cent green went to $17.50 used while the 3-cent pink of the second issue catalogues for $300 in mint condition. The 30-cent orange of the same series is now $4 mint The 3-cent rose with grill points up was increased $5 and all other values of this series showed gains. All of the used copies of the 1869 Pictorial series were increased. In the 1873 Continental Bank Note series all values up to 7 cent were increased in mint form. Of the 1879 series all showed an increase with the exception of Nos. 182, 189 and 191. In the 1890 series all values in mint condition were increased.

The Columbians were greatly increased. The set now catalogues for $135.75 mint with the used also greatly increased. Most of the un-used of the 1895 series were raised while the Trans-Mississippi issue now catalogues at a new high of $53.72 unused. The Pan American set mint now catalogues at $9.35. The Louisiana set went up to $2 and the Jamestown to $1.50. In-creased catalogue prices were placed on the imperforate Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon and Hudson-Fulton each going to $1.25. The Lincoln on bluish paper sharply increased to $6 unused and used. The Panama-Pacific's perf. 12 now catalogue st $8.95 with the 10-cent orange at # in mint condition, the perf. We went to $20 mint. Regular issues from 1912 to 1920 gained in both mint and used but the current $2 and $5 were decreased.

The Pilgrims now catalogue $2.25 unused, the Huguenot Walloons now $1.30 unused and the Lexington Concords now at $1.25 mint and $1.12 used.

Dear Martha Carr:

Mrs. Grundy could find "meat" for disapproval. It seems to me if anyone disapproved (and there is no ground for this either, so far as I can see) it would be your sister. The matter of obligating yourself is one which might be considered in accepting too much from either man or woman-friend. There is no impropriety in it; but possibly the same feeling you might have were you to accept too much from any friend or acquaintance.

Dear Martha Carr:

PLEASE let me know when there will be a dog show and where it will be held. I have a pet dog which I would like to have in a VIRGINIA S.

You might call the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club and the manager of the Arena. Perhaps they could tell you.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

AM a girl 11 years old and I am in six three, in school. I have two cousins who live in the same house, one upstairs and one downstairs. And the one that lives upstairs graduated this June and the one that lives downstairs still goes to school. She is in seven three, though, and she is 11 years old, too. As I am one month older than she, I want very much to graduate before she does. But while my upstairs cousin always helps her, I have to work by myself I study very hard and I am smart in school. I asked the teacher if Paris, Fran there was a summer school. She said "Yes," but I did not need to a week in go. And when I told my mother she said the same. So is there something else I can do to catch up with her? EXCITED.

I have no doubt, if you are working this all out by yourself, that you may get a better grasp of your studies and perhaps it will not be long before you appear in her class. But I think it would be nice for you to have a little talk with the arringinal of your school. He would principal of your school. In the 1873 Continental Bank Note series all values up to 7 cent were increased in mint form. Of the 1879 series all showed an increase with the exception of Nos. 182, 189 and 191. In the 1890 series all values in mint condition were increased.

The Columbians were greatly increased. The set now catalogues for $135.75 mint with the used also greatly increased. Most of the unused of the 1895 series were raised while the Trans-Mississippi issue now catalogues at a new high of $53.72 unused. The Pan American set mint now catalogues at $9.35. The Louisiana set went up to $2 and the Jamestown to $1.50. Increased catalogue prices were placed on the imperforate Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon and Hudson-Fulton each going to $1.25. The Lincoln on bluish paper sharply increased to $6 unused and used. The Panama-Pacific's perf. 12 now catalogue at $8.95 with the 10-cent orange at $4 in mint condition, the perf. 10's went to $20 mint. Regular issues from 1912 to 1920 gained in both mint and used but the current $2 and $5 were decreased.

The Pilgrims now catalogue $2.25 unused, the Huguenot Walloons now $1.30 unused and the Lexington Concords now at $1.25 mint and $1.12 used.

follows Norse-American set mint $1.30 used $1.30, Ericsson mint $.35 used $.20, White Plains mint $.10 used $.08, White Plains sheet mint $3. Kansas set mint $3.25. Nebraska set mint $4.25, Bi-centennials mint $1.69. All other commemoratives were accorded slight increases.

In the airmails the 1918 series went to $6 unused and $3.20 used with the 1923 series increasing to $4 mint and $2.50 used. The Zeppelin set of 3 went to $24 per set, used and unused and the $.50 Zeppelin of 1933 increased to $1 mint, Jellied Melange Fillets of Lamb. Cheese Souffle in Peppers Stewed Tomatoes and Okra Green Salad Apple Crisp.

Jellied Melange.

Open one can each of cardinal consomme, clear strained chicken broth and bouillon. Soak one dessert spoon of gelatin in a little cold water, then dissolve in one cup of hot chicken broth. To the hot broth add seasoning to taste. Stir all together and either place on ice or in a bowl of cracked ice until jellied. Serve very cold with lemon slices.

Fillets of Lamb

Take two pounds of lamb from the forequarter, cut meat in strips and pound flat. Mix three tablespoons of vinegar with three fablespoons of olive oil, add two tablespoons of minced onion, two talespoons of minced parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Pour this over the meat in the morning and let stand all day, stirring occasionally. Drain, reserving sauce and wipe meat. Dredge with flour and brown lightly in butter. After browning, add a little water and the sauce in which the meat has been standing. Let simmer until tender and thicken with one tablespoon of flour browned in butter. This amount will serve six people.

Cheese Souffle in Peppers. Cut large green peppers in halves and remove all seeds. Plunge into boiling water for just a minute, then drain. Place on a flat greased pan and fill with cheese souffle made as follows:

Two tablespoons of butter. Two tablespoons of flour.

One-half cup of milk, Three-fourths cup of soft cheese which will melt easily. Four eggs, separated Melt the butter, add flour and milk and cook until smooth. Add the cheese, which has been grated, stirring until melted. Let cool and add the beaten yolks of eggs. Beat the egg whites stiff with a pinch of salt and fold into other mixture. Fill peppers and bake over a pan of water in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Stewed Tomatoes and Okra. Pour boiling water over one pint of sliced okra and let stand for a few minutes, then drain through colander. Chop onion and one-half cup of celery and simmer in one tablespool each of butter and bacon drippings until soft. Add one quart of peeled and cut-up tomatoes and cook for a few minutes. Season well with salt and pepper, then add the okra and continue cooking slowly, covered, for three-quarters of an hour, stirring so as not to

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

Pretty ANNA STAHL, left to care for her 4-year-old half sister, TANYA, moves in with JIMMY STEELE, radio announcer, and his mother, who welcome them as members of the family. Anna falls in love with CAREY DENNISON, radio mother, blond CONNIE SPENCER, again a widow returns to San Francisco to visit her small daughter, but Anna suspects that she is angling for Jimmy or Carey. Temperamental MITZI LA RUE, Jimmy's tiancee, proves capable of holding Jimmy despite Connie's subtle charm. When Tanya is suddenly stricken with appendicitis, it is Jimmy and Anna and Miss. Steele who are most concerned. Carey quartels with Anna because she has neglected him, but she attributes it to temperament, expecting him to phone and apologize.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: was for her. And it was from "Oh, the darling!" she thought, incoherently. "He was ashamed to call so he has written to me." That much was true but the message itself was a shock for which

"You look as if you had lost your last friend," she jeered at the melancholy reflection.

She had not shed a tear. Her heart felt as if it were frozen into a hard ball. She was frateful and dully surprised that she was conscious of no pain. After she had extended that she was conscious of no pain. After she had not shed a tear. Her heart felt as if it were frozen into a hard ball. "You can laugh if you like, twas such mental refreshment as thing else could have provided by the provided by the could be nothing else could have provided. But always she wondered whether the young man from whom she took dictation noticed them.

A pity if he didn't, Ann thought. For such a handsome young man he was dreadfully solemn. A blue flower or two in his life might soften the contour of the hard, red line of his lips-might put some color into the precise, flat voice with which he dictated business letters. Neither of these things had happened as yet; so Ann supposed he hadn't noticed her blue flowers. And yet, once or twice she fancied his eyes strayed from whatever point in infinity they were fixed on to the blue flowers in the vase. Only for an instant, though, and never with the results

Ann kept hoping for.
Once in a burst of confidence Ann told Yvonne, the girl she lunched with, who took dictation from the other partner of the firm, about her flowers and the possibility of Peter some day noticing them. Ann thought of her stern young man as Peter; she addressed him more formally, as Mr. Flint. Anyway, she told Yvonne all about

As she instricted to the fiat, present beat swiftly.

"I've noticed their absence"—
He'd noticed! The moment had his door, hesitated again, and then departed from custom and spoke:

"You see,' he continued, "I'm sensitive to that particular kind of water and my head ache. Kind "No," said Ann chokingly, "nothing's wrong."

Yvonne crumbled a meditative bread crumb. "Why don't you forget to bring the flowers a few times? See if he notices. I bet you a lunch he doesn't."

Ann couldn't turn down a challenge like that. "I bet you a lunch he does," she answered. The next day Ann brought no flowers. She took dictation as usual, watching from the corner of her eye for any possible changes on Peter Flint's face. His eyes, she thought, strayed once to the empty vase; but his countenance remained impassive. Nevertheless, he had looked toward the vase. It was a point for Ann.

Then another day came and Ann brought no flowers; nor was there any sign from Flint, save that once he gazed for a moment at the empty vase.

WITH one part of her mind, while she went about her work, Ann pondered with anticipatory pleasure on the triumph she would feel when she told Yvonne: "We're to be married in a month." For by now she was certain that the flowers were working their emotional magic.
